

The Battlefield.

Just as destructive as the bombs that exploded.

Soldiers left and right

The pained cries of the fallen soldiers, unable to be heard over the gunfire of the enemy.

The bloodshed of fallen soldiers was as thick as fog.

Many wounded and riddled with disease,
All wanting to go home.

S.C